BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.

Suppose someone said to you, "Here's $1,000. Spend it as you will!" How surprised and delighted you'd be! In substance, that's what The Constitution is saying, through the medium of the entertaining new Songame, in which the first prize is $1,000. This handsome first prize is supplemented by 39 other worthwhile awards.

Songame picture No. 16 is drawn to represent the title of a song that has been well known for years. If, off-hand, you can't remember this popular old stand-by, glance at the list of song titles which The Constitution has been giving to followers of the Songame, and see if you can not find the title easily.

If you have not yet gotten a copy of this list, or have missed any of the pictures up to date, you may obtain them without charge by calling at the office of The Constitution, by mail for a two-cent stamp, or by calling at one of the following conveniently located drug stores:

MRS. MANSFIELD TAKEN BY DEATH

Former Prominent Atlanta Woman Passes at Sweetwater, Tenn.

Mrs. W. C. Mansfield, widely known former Atlanta and wife of the late president of the Atlanta Milling Company, died Saturday night at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Sam T. Jones, in Sweetwater, Tenn. She was 80 years old, and had been ill for several months.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock this morning at the residence of Mrs. Jones in Sweetwater. The body will be brought to Atlanta for interment services at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the graveside in West View cemetery, with Dr. John S. Jenkins and Dr. Wallace Rogers officiating. Pallbearers will be former Governor John M. Slaton, John A. Manget, W. D. Coleman, C. M. Daniels, J. S. McCullough and James L. H. M. Patterson and Son are in charge.

Mrs. Mansfield was a native of McDonough, Ga., and was a member of a prominent family of Georgia educators. She was the former Miss Zoe Rogers. Mrs. Mansfield attended school in Marietta, and resided for several years in Griffin before moving to Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield celebrated their golden wedding anniversary shortly before Mr. Mansfield's death three years ago.

Widely known throughout the state, both Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield were prominent churchworkers. They held membership in the Trinity Methodist church here and Mr. Mansfield was superintendent of the Sunday school here for many years.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Jones, she is survived by a son, E. S. Mansfield, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. James M. Daniels, of Atlanta; and five grandchildren, Clifford and Sam T. Jones Jr., Mrs. Harry Hall, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong and E. S. Mansfield Jr., all of Atlanta.

DRYS ARE "UNFAIR" IN RESISTING VOTE, ASSERTS McELVEEN

Although he described himself as a dry—a moderate dry—the Rev. W. T. McElveen, pastor of the Congregational Christian church, told the Current Events class of the church Sunday that the drys were unfair and were making a mistake in resisting a vote on the question of prohibition. He asserted that a test vote on the dry laws would bring about discussion and thought and, in short, be good for the nation.

Referring to William D. Upshaw, the prohibition party's candidate for president, Mr. McElveen said that it is "just impossible to think of him as president—he isn't the kind."

With reference to the republican prohibition plank, Mr. McElveen said it was "too long, wordy and involved," but that it does "say something after a study of it is made."

Referring to straw ballots, he said that the Literary Digest poll was not fairly conducted and that no test vote could indicate how people would vote in a real election.

Next Sunday, Mr. McElveen said, he will discuss the prohibition plank in the democratic platform.

4 of Georgia's Congressmen Without Opposition This Fall

By the Associated Press.

Four of Georgia's congressmen will be renominated by the democrats without opposition this fall, and a fifth man, who never before served in congress, likewise will have the field to himself in the democratic primary.

The fifth man is Solicitor-General Emmett Marshall Owen, of the Griffin superior court circuit, and a candidate for congress from the fourth district.

The other four are Representatives E. E. Cox, of Camilla, of the second district; W. C. Taylor, of Dalton, seventh; John S. Wood, Canton, ninth; and Charles H. Brand, Athens, tenth. Democratic nomination is tantamount to election in Georgia.

Solicitor-General Owen has been a resident of the Griffin-Zebulon neighborhood all of his life. He has served his district in various capacities. A mild-mannered, pleasant man, whose appearance and activity make him appear much younger than his 54 years, he has

Athens Mecca for P. T. A. School Chiefs, Future Farmers

Delegates to Three State-wide Institutes Gathering in University City Today.

ATHENS, Ga., July 10.—Delegates to three of the five annual statewide institutes that open here tomorrow in connection with the University of Georgia summer school began arriving tonight.

Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of McDonough, presiding officer of the Parent-Teacher institute which convenes at Memorial hall tomorrow morning, said that all preliminary plans had been completed tonight.

The meeting of high school superintendents, in addition to round table conferences will listen to addresses Monday by Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools, and Dr. C. R. Glenn, superintendent of the Birmingham schools.

At Camp Wilkins, on the campus of the State College of Agriculture, delegates to the annual convention of the Georgia Association of Future Farmers of America were expected to arrive early Monday, according to Thomas Dixon Brown, of Carnesville, state president of the organization.

M. D. Mobley, of Tifton, assistant state supervisor of agricultural education, and state F. A. adviser, will have general charges of the week.

The boys will study short courses pertaining to their duties as officers of their local chapters. Highlights of this year's P. T. A. program include addresses by Dr. James E. Sidel, of New York, and Miss Gray Shepperd, of Atlanta.

The work of this year's P. T. A. institute will be divided into three main divisions, according to Mrs. Hankinson. She stated the first phase of the program would be a brief session to be conducted by Dr. Sidel, to secure first-hand information regarding certain aspects of city and county public schools, especially the attendance, preparation of teachers, length of school terms and adequacy of school accommodations.

The second division will be a study of the relation between the Georgia Education Association and Parent-Teacher organization. Several joint meetings are scheduled by the organizations during their institutes.

A specific study of the P. T. A. organization and its program constitutes the third and final phase of the Athens meeting. The study will embrace the home, school and community, and their influence on child life.

OPERA STARS ARRIVE FOR ATHENS PROGRAM

ATHENS, Ga., July 10.—The New York artists who will sing the principal roles in the University of Georgia summer school operas on July 12 and 13, arrived in Athens early Sunday morning, with the exception of Fred Patton, who will arrive Monday night.

Fred Patton, Metropolitan baritone, was unable to come as early as the other stars because of an engagement with the Cincinnati Federal Opera Company. He will sing the role of Sharpless in "Madam Butterfly," and one of the leading roles in "La Traviata." Patton is nationally known for his bass-baritone voice.

Dimitri Onofrei, who will sing the leading masculine roles in the university operas, will leave Athens Friday night, July 15 and will fly to Los Angeles for an engagement. He and his wife, whose stage name is Bianca Sorority, have a concert engagement to sing in the Hollywood bowl, July 19. Onofrei and his wife are the leading stars of the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company.

Queenie Marie, of the Metropolitan, who is the heroine of the two university opera productions, will sing principal roles in the operas to be presented in the Hollywood festival, beginning August 1. Miss Marie, who has the distinction of being the youngest prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, is a 100 per cent American. Her real name is Queenie Marion Tillotson. She was born in Ohio and now lives in New York, where she received her education and musical training.

The operas presented at the university summer school will be fully staged. "La Traviata" will be sung July 12 and "Madam Butterfly," July 13. Practically all scenery and equipment, as well as costumes for the operas, have been furnished by the Metropolitan, the world's largest opera company.

Bombs sent through the mail may be detected while still in the post-office, if a new X-ray inspection device is put into use.

The following chairmen will keep Rotarians on the job: Program, Abe Harris; stunts, William Sherrill; classification, Erwin Lehmann; boys work, Lee Heyman; fellowship, Arch Avery; attendance, Joe Bradshaw; public information, Dad Cook; sunshine, Paul Schneide; music, Pick Spiegel; budget, Sam Herzfeld; sergeant-at-arms, Hugh McCulloch Jr.

MAN KILLS HIMSELF IN VALDOSTA CELL

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 10.—E. Bellflower, 65, was found strangled to death in a cell at police headquarters this morning, having used his belt as a means of suicide.

Bellflower was docketed for drunkenness during the night, and about 7 o'clock this morning it was discovered that he had torn up the blankets in his cell and was making a rope of them, this was taken away from him.

About an hour and a half later another prisoner was placed in the same block of cells and discovering that Bellflower's door was open, he walked in and found the man dead.

Bellflower had fastened his belt to a cross bar, slipped a noose over his head and allowed himself to slowly strangle.

Bellflower's home is in Cook county, where he has a son and daughter living. He has been around this city several months and early in the year was beaten and robbed by a negro man who was later convicted and sentenced to 15 years for highway robbery.

PLAN TO USE SCHOOL AS MENTAL HOSPITAL

SPARTA, Ga., July 10.—Dr. Roger Swint, superintendent of the Georgia State Hospital for the Insane, at Milledgeville, spent some time here Friday afternoon making a survey of the buildings and grounds of the Tenth District A. & M. school.

Dr. Swint has been urged by the local Lions Club and other citizens

HEAVY GRAIN CROPS REPORTED IN CLARKE

Farmers Profit By "Live-at-Home" and Diversity of Crops System.

ATHENS, Ga., July 10.—Perhaps the largest acreage of wheat since the Civil War and a correspondingly increased acreage in oats were harvested by Clarke county farmers last spring, it is announced by E. S. Watson, county agricultural agent.

The wheat acreage this year was about double that of the previous year and the oats crop was 42 per cent more than the preceding year. Clarke farmers and farm women have been quick to take advantage of the abundant food crops they have raised. They have from one to three cash crops in addition to cotton. This means they are finding a market for surplus vegetables, and in some instances wheat, corn, oats, hay and fodder.

Miss Ruby Thompson, county home demonstration agent, is assisting a large number of 4-H Club girls and farm women in canning large quantities of blackberry and tomato juices, beans, tomatoes, corn, and other surplus vegetables.

A community canning plant has been erected at Tuckatoe. Any farmer in the county may use the plant without charge. From 500 to 1,000 cans can be put up daily. "Food and feed crops never looked better and indications are that there will be more canning done than ever before," Mr. Watson said.

Statistics compiled by the county agent following his survey of 210 farmers shows that 120 are producing from one to three cash crops in addition to cotton; 60 are selling green vegetables; 60 are selling milk, butter or both; 31 are selling chickens and eggs and 31 are finding a sale for various other products.

To move the mentally defective children from the hospital here and form a new unit. The buildings are said to be well adapted to the purpose if a few alterations are made.

The superintendent did not give out his decision before leaving but indications point to the possible use of the school plant for this purpose. The buildings are in excellent condition and would need very little repairing. The plan will be urged by interested people here with hopes of securing this hospital unit for this county.

NEGRO FOUND SLAIN ON LOADED COAL CAR

MACON, Ga., July 10.—(P)—The body of Edgar Scott, negro brakeman, was found early this morning on a pile of coal in a car on a Southern railway train.

The negro's head had been battered. There was a heavy iron pipe smeared with blood beside the body. He was last seen alive when the train was just outside the yards in Atlanta.

SPANISH WAR GROUP HOLDS MACON MEETING

MACON, Ga., July 10.—(P)—Eighteen members of the administration of the department of Georgia, United Spanish War veterans, transacted department business and discussed plans for the future here today.

A called meeting of the council is held each year after the department encampment. Included in the business today were plans to send a Georgia delegation to the national encampment in Milwaukee next month.

W. F. Hill, Albany, commander of the Georgia department, presided.

ENGINEERING CLUB IN ANNUAL MEETING

SPARTA, Ga., July 10.—H. M. Sweet, of this city, president of the William Greenleaf Engineering club, of the fourth division, directed the annual meeting of the club at Dublin Saturday. In the morning a golf tournament was held. In the afternoon a business meeting was held at which time the members were addressed by State Highway Commissioner Jud P. Wilhoit.

Bright, Hot Weather Forecast for Today

Bright, hot weather in the morning, with only a bare possibility of showers in the afternoon is the weather outlook for Atlanta and its surrounding territory today. Temperatures may be expected to match those of Sunday, when the thermometer registered a high of around 87 and a low of approximately 70 degrees.

With the exception of indications for light thundershowers in western Georgia during the afternoon the day should be cloudless and hot, according to Arthur H. Scott, in charge of the local weather bureau.

SHOT BY WATCHMAN, NEGRO BURGLAR DYING

Alec Fitzgerald, a negro, was shot and probably fatally wounded early Sunday morning by G. L. Britt, a night watchman at a drugstore at 438 McDonough boulevard. During an unsuccessful attempt of three negroes to break into the drug store, according to the watchman, Fitzgerald was shot through the stomach and is in a dying condition at Grady hospital.

According to Britt, he saw three negroes tampering with the lock on the front door of the store. He watched them for nearly an hour, he said, intending to trap them when they entered. When they abandoned the attempt to break into the store, Britt said he fired, wounding Fitzgerald. The other two negroes escaped.

CHARLES RICHARDSON PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Charles Richardson, 71 years old, of 1130 Lanier boulevard, died Sunday morning at the residence following an illness of ten days. The body will be taken to Springfield, Ill., at 8:30 o'clock tonight for funeral services and interment.

Mr. Richardson was a native of Seymour, Conn., and resided in Springfield for many years, where he was the manager of the Leland hotel, one of the city's leading hostels. He came to Atlanta two years ago to reside with his son, Harry E. Richardson, who is southern manager of the Patent Button Company. He also is survived by two other sons, Horace W. Richardson, of Atlanta, and Charles Richardson Jr., of New York city, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles W. Keyes, formerly of Atlanta, of Coral Gables, Fla. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge of arrangements.

Unknown Number Dead In Munitions Blasts

NANKING, China, July 10.—(P)—Shortly before noon today an ammunition storage depot on the outskirts of Nanking caught fire and exploded with a blast which rocked the city.

Persons living in the immediate vicinity were panic-stricken and it was some time before fire-fighting apparatus was brought into action.

By then the flames had spread and smaller explosions came at intervals. It was impossible to determine how many had perished.

In this High-pressure Age smokers want a Milder Cigarette

WE LIVE in a fast-moving age. We work harder... play harder... travel quicker. And we smoke more cigarettes.

But there's this about it: They have got to be milder today. In this high-pressure age, smokers don't like strong cigarettes.

About four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe, Domestic tobaccos, stored away to age for two years to make them mild and mellow for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

To make sure that CHESTERFIELD is a milder cigarette, the greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in the tobaccos used in CHESTERFIELD. These tobaccos are "Cross-Blended."

This "Welding" Together—or "Cross-Blending"—permits every kind of tobacco used in the CHESTERFIELD blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. It's the same principle that Burbank used in crossing different fruits to make a still better fruit.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder... never harsh... and that's why, in this high-pressure age, more smokers, men and women, are changing to CHESTERFIELDS every day.

lying exposed on the hillsides. Its great virgin forests exceed those to be found anywhere in America, containing many millions of feet of spruce, hemlock, birch and cottonwood.

With summer temperatures ranging in the eighties, Alaska's valleys will grow more farm products to the acre in shorter time than any other land on the continent.

While its rigid winters are calculated to keep down its population, the territory in years to come is destined to be of constantly increasing value to the United States because of its overabundance of natural resources.

TRAFFIC COMMISSION RIGHT.

The mayor's traffic commission is correct in its position that every policeman in uniform on the streets of Atlanta is equally responsible with the members of the traffic squad for the enforcement of the various traffic ordinances.

Every member of the force, whatever his special assignment, is charged with the duty of seeing that all the laws of the city are observed. To say that a patrolman or a roundsman may ignore traffic violations merely because there is a squad especially charged with this duty is no different from taking the position that an officer may stand by and see murder committed just because he is not a member of the homicide squad.

It is impossible for the traffic squad, with its comparatively few men, to control the widespread violations going on daily in every part of the city. But if they receive the active co-operation of every policeman, wherever he may be posted, there will be an immediate and marked decrease in the smashes which have sent so many Atlantans to the hospital recently.

The step contemplated by the traffic commission is one in the right direction and it should receive the full indorsement of the police committee of council and be put into effect at once by the responsible heads of the department.

WOMEN FOR ROOSEVELT.

The strong appeal of Franklin D. Roosevelt to the women voters of the country is illustrated by a ringing indorsement of the democratic candidate in a letter sent to a prominent Atlanta woman by Miss Emily Louise Plumley, director for Connecticut of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

In expressing her delight over the nomination of Governor Roosevelt, Miss Plumley says: "I rejoice that Georgia is also an admirer of a man upon whom we may all pin our faith. He offers us everything that a United States president should."

In this succinct statement Miss Plumley presents an undeniable fact. Probably no candidate for president ever offered by either of the major parties has been as peculiarly fitted for the responsibilities of chief executive as Franklin D. Roosevelt.

His personal qualifications, outstanding Americanism, devotion to the public interest and courageous and progressive spirit eminently qualify him to lead the country out of the morass of economic disruption into which more than a decade of republican maladministration has plunged it.

To the women voters of the nation, comparatively new in their possession of the ballot, the progressive policies and frank and above-board treatment of public policies by Governor Roosevelt are certain to be strongly appealing.

While the General Federation of Women's Clubs is strictly non-political in its activities and Miss Plumley, as one of its officers does not speak for the organization in her praise of the democratic candidate, she undoubtedly voices the sentiment of the vast majority of the great army of prominent and leading American women who compose its membership.

The present state of affairs in this country is making politicians think, observes an editor. Yes, a lot of old precedents are being swept into oblivion.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

If He Is Master of the Ship, Let Him Take the Helm in a Storm

By Robert Quillen

It is commonly said that governments were established for the protection of the weak—that the many banded together to obtain mutual protection against the predatory few.

It is more probable that the beginning of organized society was made by the strong. The first government had doubtless been a man of superior fighting ability who attracted admiring followers and held their allegiance by dividing the spoils of battle.

But very early in the life of the race the power of brawn was supplanted by the power of wealth. The man who had acquired property bribed other men to defend it. His organization was a government, and the purpose of the government was to protect the advantages of the strong.

That purpose has not changed with the centuries.

Since the dawn of history the chief concern of government has been the protection of the property and the privileges of the powerful.

Now, as always, rules and standards and changes are made by the strong—never by the weak.

But now a new power has come into the world—a power greater than that of the strong. It is the power of the machine. Its business still is the protection of the strong. But now the strong are the people.

America has learned much in the last four years. It has lost faith in the old leaders and the old rules.

We are in the midst of revolution. Our sufferings are the birth pangs of a new order. Those who were strong are weak and fearful.

What does it all mean? It means a new birth of freedom, if the people are worthy of the power placed in their hands by disaster.

It can mean freedom from hypocritical politicians; freedom from rules that favor the rich; freedom from the tyranny of racketeers and the tyranny of fanatical minorities; freedom from organized groups that raid the treasury; freedom from oppressive taxation; freedom from the waste, graft and favoritism that have so nearly wrecked our civilization.

Government will survive the strong, and the strong are the people. The way is open to a new and better civilization if the people have courage to follow where opportunity leads.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 10.—Boots Mallory, of the New York stage, arrives in Hollywood as a member of the Fox studio, buys herself a second-hand flapper and sets about the business of movie making.

Time was when a young lady who did such a thing would not be considered in the ring among the celluloid famous. But today the lovely flapper has her place, economies are regarded as a sign of intelligence rather than an indication of misfortune and some of those who sported pale lilac ruffs to the restaurant, a dozen German jump up like poplins to show their native courtesy and chivalry, no doubt. The monochromatic young officers of the Reichwehr, with their steady eyes and shaven heads growl hatefully at barbarians who fall short in presenting arms.

The only thing to do to let them state of course and to act as if the whole business doesn't concern one in the least.

Georgia Heroes Of the World War

By Sergeant L. E. Jaekel (All Rights Reserved.)

JOHN A. HUGHES, lieutenant-colonel, battalion commander, first battalion, sixth regiment, United States marine corps, second division, American Expeditionary Force, was awarded the navy cross for extraordinary heroism in action with the enemy in the operations of his battalion at Belleau Woods, France, from the tenth to the thirteenth of June, 1918.

Hughes demonstrated himself to be a gallant, courageous and determined commander of men.

In the face of heavy losses upon the enemy, capturing many prisoners, 20 machine guns, six minnowwerfers and other booty, the brilliant successes of his battalion were in large measure due to his coolness in all crises, unflinching good humor and accurate judgment.

He led his men superbly under the most trying conditions against the most distinguished elements of the German army, administering to those organizations their resistance to the enemy.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

OLD MEDICAL FALLACIES ARE THE FUNNIEST

Our Texas reader writes: I enjoy your column and get much benefit from it. Your article on snake bite is particularly good. I am sure it will be of great value to your readers.

Let me permit me to say that, like every other human being, I am a snake biter. I am a snake biter. I am a snake biter.

So far we might debate the question with a perfectly straight face. But our Texas friend warns me: "Keep the snake bite and the snake bite."

Another doctor says "Alcohol is a specific for the venom of a rattlesnake." No science can equal facts. Science changes, but facts are permanent.

This is written for a purpose. If some man, like the writer, should write a book on snake bite, he would be a doctor, he would be a doctor, he would be a doctor.

Gladly, first, I can assure our Texas friend that all authorities of science are in agreement that giving alcohol in any form to the victim of snake bite. Actually the victim's chance to recover is better without treatment of any kind than it is with alcohol.

I must call attention to a characteristic feature of both of the experts or authorities whose views our friend quotes—they are anonymous. For all we know they may be impostors. Our friend could name authorities he cites. One likes to be sure, at least, that the doctors are men of standing, and not hypothetical authorities.

If I were confronted with rattlesnake bite and had no anti-venom (serum) at hand, here is the treatment I should give or wish given: I would give the victim a few minutes of rest, and then I would give him a few minutes of rest, and then I would give him a few minutes of rest.

In the construction of matter the molecules are so minute that even under the strongest microscope they would not be discernible.

STURDIVANT CHARGE To Be Aired Today

Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant is scheduled to appear before Superior Court Judge E. D. Thomas at 9:30 o'clock this morning and show cause why he should not be sentenced to contempt of court.

Sturdivant was cited in an order issued by Judge Thomas Saturday night, charging that the city police head had been in contempt when he released John Davis, a negro, to Tennessee authorities contrary to a supersedeas writ served on him.

The contempt citation charged that Sturdivant had "willfully" disobeyed the supersedeas order of the court in allowing Tennessee authorities to have custody of the prisoner, whose confinement had been ordered by the court.

The alternative to an apology, McNell said in his letter to De Valera, would be removal of the governor general from his office.

The dispute was an outgrowth of various incidents which began last May when two members of the Free State cabinet left a party at the French legation here upon the arrival of Mr. McNell during the eucharistic congress.

The dispute was accepted widely as indicating the existence of a complete rupture between the De Valera government and Great Britain.

With the publication tonight of the letter McNell wrote to De Valera, the removal from office of Governor McNell in defiance of a direct order from the Free State executive council, the government of the Free State was divided into two camps.

The first was a letter from President De Valera on May 7 in which he said that the removal of McNell was "unfortunate and regrettable and should not be permitted to recur."

On July 7, Governor General McNell wrote further of "discourtesy with which your ministers treated me."

"You have made it necessary for me to leave my country," McNell wrote, "without any change of principle."

He said that unless an apology was received within three days from Mr. De Valera, the government would be "forced to publish the correspondence."

A sensation was caused in Dublin on the night of April 23 when Sean O'Kelly, vice president of the Free State executive council, Frank Aiken, minister of defense, and a number of his friends ostentatiously left a social function at the French legation to attend the arrival of Governor General McNell.

After the guests had assembled the governor general entered a ballroom where a reception was being given. A national anthem was played by a band, whereupon the two members of President De Valera's government left the legation.

The occasion was a ball given by Charles Alphonse, French minister to the Free State, and Mme. Alphonse, who had been recently married to a Dublin man.

Many prominent society folk attended the ball, including Frederick A. Sterling, Irish minister, and a number of members of the former Free State government of William T. Cosgrave.

Miss Lunsford, according to police reports, was driving on Thompson street, when she was struck by a car.

E. O. Bobo, 233 Thompson street, had stopped his car early Sunday morning to repair a tire on his car.

Later he told of the wreck of their round-the-world flight ambition in a Russian pet box, and of their departure for the United States.

"We got a tough break, that's all," they said. "We're going home as soon as we can, but we'll take it again this year if we can't get a plane."

Hope Is Abandoned For Submarine Crew

CHERBOURG, France, July 10.—The Tri-Colour, flattered at half-staff above the naval base headquarters today, for hope of rescuing any of the more than 60 men who went down with the submarine Promethee had been abandoned.

This morning the Italian salvage ship Artiglio 11 sent a diver down in the trench and backers and reading in his jail cell, awaiting sentence tomorrow for his conviction of obstructing justice in the Lindbergh kidnapping.

While the offense carries a maximum penalty of three years' imprisonment and $1,000 fine, the court recommended mercy in Curtis' case.

FIRM OPPOSITION TO CANCELLATION

European Agreement Brings No Change in Stand of Congress.

BY CHAS. STEPHENSON SMITH. WASHINGTON, July 10.—(P)—Agreement among European powers to pay Germany's reparations payment to $12,500,000 has not lessened the hostility of congress toward cancellation or further reduction of war debts owed the United States.

The row which flared up yesterday in the senate over published reports that the state department is willing to hear proposals from European countries for debt revision promises to continue tomorrow when the resolution of Senator McKellar, demanding that the state department continue to stand firm in its attitude is to be considered.

This despite a statement from Acting Secretary Castle of the state department that there had been no change in the administration's views.

The resolution declares congress alone has authority to act on debt revision proposals. It calls on the state department to continue to stand firm in its attitude is to be considered.

HOOVER REJECTS PLAN OFFERED BY ROOSEVELT

ROOSEVELT FETE PLANNED BY HAGUE

NEW YORK, July 10.—(P)—The Times says Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, staunch Smith supporter, plans to show his support to the Roosevelt candidacy with a statewide demonstration at Seagirt, N. J., about the middle of August.

"Governor Roosevelt will be present," continues the Times, and it is the intention of Mayor Hague to make Roosevelt Day in New Jersey this year even more of a demonstration than was Smith Day in 1928, when more than 100,000 demonstrators gathered at Seagirt to ratify the nomination of Alfred E. Smith for president.

United States and the Dominion of Canada in respect to the Great Lakes waterway are making progress, and that it will not be necessary to interrupt your cruise by a visit to Washington.

"Having ardently advocated for over 10 years the great work of completing this shipway from Duluth and Chicago to the sea, I am glad to know that it will be your support."

At the conference, the president's telegram was drawn up at a conference in the Lincoln study of the White House. The conference was attended by Walter Newton, one of his secretaries in charge of political affairs, and James Grafton Rogers, assistant secretary of state, who has been handling the St. Lawrence negotiations with Canada.

Referring to the governor's suggestion for a conference, the president said that although international treaties fall within the sole jurisdiction of the federal government, the administration had consulted Roosevelt and leaders in other states during the negotiations.

"I am in hopes an agreement can be reached between the governments," Mr. Hoover continues, "but it has not yet been concluded and I shall be glad to have you advised when this occurs."

Governor Roosevelt, who is planning a cruise with his sons this week, in his telegram yesterday said he had been informed by the power authority of New York state that the issue still unsettled in the negotiations with Canada had been referred to the president for final determination.

He said the New York power authority had reported to him that "the question, failure to agree upon which had prevented complete accord, is the proportion of the cost to be borne by the state of New York."

President Hoover, in his telegram, made no mention of the question involving New York's share of the proposed project.

Text of Telegram. "I am in receipt of your telegram of July 9th. I am glad to assure you that the negotiations between the United States and the Dominion of Canada in respect to the Great Lakes waterway are making progress and that it will not be necessary to interrupt your cruise by a visit to Washington.

"These negotiations, as you know, involving a score of intricate problems, have been under way for nearly three years and have now reached a hopeful aspect. While under our constitution international treaties fall within the sole jurisdiction of the federal government, nevertheless the representatives appointed by you and leaders in other states primarily concerned have been consulted during the course of the negotiations. I am in hopes an agreement can be reached between the two governments, but it has not yet been concluded, and I shall

Key Demands That Office-Seekers Declare Themselves on Wet Plank

Demand that all candidates for democratic nomination to public office in Georgia declare themselves openly and frankly on the democratic national platform and its prohibition repeal plank was made by Mayor James L. Key speaking Sunday before his undermanned Bible class at the Georgia theater.

"The people of Georgia have a right to know where these candidates stand on the most important issue of the day; they want to know, and I want to know. I demand here that they say where they stand. If they do say, I will have something more to say about that next Sunday; if they don't say, I'll have plenty more to say about that, too," the Atlanta mayor promised.

He was glad to have you advised when this occurs.

"The question of the disposal of the by-product of power which will result from the works which border the state of New York, like all domestic questions of this character affecting the country is reserved by the proposed treaty for purely domestic action by each country. This disposal is not the subject of international agreement. If the treaty is concluded and is ratified by the senate, then the domestic questions which may arise must be settled through the action of both the senate and house of representatives in accordance with federal and state law and in accord with the interest of all the states of the Union."

"You will realize that neither you nor I have authority to enter upon agreements in respect to these domestic questions, but if the treaty is consummated and ratified I shall be glad to consult with you and other governors. I have no doubt that we can make such recommendations to the congress as will be helpful to them in solving the particular domestic problems relating to each state."

"Having ardently advocated for over ten years the great work of completing this shipway from Duluth and Chicago to the sea, I am glad to know that it will meet with your support."

ROOSEVELT AWAITS WORD FROM PRESIDENT HOOVER

BY WALTER T. BROWN.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 10.—(P)—Concluding a week-end at Crum Creek, his Hudson river home, Governor Roosevelt today awaited word from President Hoover regarding a personal conference to settle a dispute between New York state and the federal government over the St. Lawrence power development project.

Political observers see in the waterway issue making of a presidential campaign battle between the governor, democratic presidential nominee, and his opponent, the president. The governor stands for government development of power sites and waterway possibilities. Mr. Hoover is on record for private development.

The governor is expected to have considerable to say about government development of waterpower during the campaign this summer. It was an issue in each of his gubernatorial political campaigns. The St. Lawrence project is an outgrowth of the democratic party's fight for government development of power sites and waterway possibilities.

The difference between the state and the federal government is over the amount New York state should pay toward development of the river for electric power and navigation. The democratic nominee yesterday suggested a meeting with his republican rival for the presidency to adjust a difference over the amount New York state should pay toward the development of the river for electric power and navigation.

He told Mr. Hoover he would be prepared to abandon a sailing trip with his sons this week and speed to New York for a conference. Final arrangements have been made to contact Mr. Roosevelt along the New England coast in the event the president declines to come to the capital.

Tomorrow morning the democratic presidential nominee will go aboard a 40-foot yawl at Port Jefferson on Long Island. The anchor will be lifted before noon. The boat, Myth II, a sailing craft, is expected to cross Long Island sound the first day and

The mayor ardently endorsed the democratic national convention's outright stand for repeal and flayed the republican leadership for having termed "a straddle that is wet, damp or dry, depending on whom it is being explained."

The repeal plank, Mayor Key asserted, offers the American people its only escape from domination by gangs and racketeers supported by bootleg profits and the only hope for relief from unbearable tax burdens.

The mayor's remarks were made during a five-minute discussion of current events he gave customarily as a preliminary to his Bible lesson each Sunday morning. The Bible lesson was the second of a series on the life of Moses, a series which will continue through the summer.

WASHINGTON G. O. P. LIKES ROOSEVELT

SEATTLE, July 10.—(P)—The progressive republican state organization of Washington today called a convention for July 23 to consider "endorsement of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency."

The announcement bears names of Herbert Lovell, of Tacoma, chairman; John E. Ballaine, of Seattle, chairman of the executive committee, and J. C. Herberman, of Seattle, secretary.

"The purpose of the convention will be to consider and take action on a proposal to repudiate the candidacy of Charles McNary, re-election, and to endorse the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt," the call said.

It added that republicans taking part will be "free to remain within the republican party and to participate in the republican primaries in support of local and state candidates."

reach a point near New Haven, Connecticut.

Elliott, the governor's second son, is unable to make the trip. Mr. Roosevelt's other sons, Franklin Jr. and John, will accompany him on the cruise, which is intended to end at Portsmouth, N. H., next Saturday.

Before diplomatic regulations can be satisfied it will be necessary for the New York state and federal government to agree on the amount the state will pay toward the project. The state department suggested $150,000,000, which Mr. Roosevelt and his power authority regard as high.

When the power authority, the state body in charge of the Massena Point project, informed Mr. Roosevelt that the state department had final decision on agreement with the state was in Mr. Hoover's hands, the governor quickly called for a personal conference to adjust the difference.

The issue is likely to be carried over into the campaign with Mr. Roosevelt advocating governmental development of power sites and waterway possibilities, and Mr. Hoover taking the opposite position that private development is desirable.

Observers see a distinct political issue in the St. Lawrence controversy. It is pointed out that if treaty negotiations are completed this summer, Mr. Roosevelt can point to the Massena Point project as a practical demonstration of his contention that state-operated electric plants are feasible.

On the other hand, it is said that if the treaty is negotiated for a St. Lawrence waterway, Mr. Hoover can argue that that plank of his 1928 platform is completed. Midwest grain states have demanded development of the St. Lawrence waterway as an outlet for their commerce.

While the Roosevelt sailing expedition began as a personal affair it has, because of Mr. Roosevelt's presidential candidacy, developed into a political issue. The governor's trip, which will carry James A. Farley, national chairman, Edward J. Flynn, a Roosevelt leader, and others who had a part in the governor's campaign for the nomination.

Daily contacts will be made and it is believed some of the problems of the campaign will be discussed with the candidate. A second yacht, the Marcom, which carried Colonel Lindbergh on the Curtiss "hoax" trips during the kidnapping hunt, will carry newspaper correspondents.

Mr. Roosevelt today laughingly suggested a code of wig-wag signals between the writers' boat and the yawl.

WOMEN WETS PLAN HEATED CAMPAIGN

North Carolina last week best typifies the change of sentiment in the south. It so happened that the North Carolina runover was held on the day Governor Roosevelt was accepting the nomination and announcing that he stood unequivocally upon the party's platform. Reynolds, too, stood on the platform, and particularly the prohibition repeal plank. As a result the loyal democrats of North Carolina rallied around him, and Senator Morrison, who chose to deviate from the platform, was swamped. 200 days have been trying to scan the Georgia candidates away from the wet issue, but they are to be fooled no longer. The time is coming when the party's platform and the candidates alone will be victorious in Georgia and other southern states.

Mrs. Healey asserted that she intended to confer with Congressman Charles R. Crisp and Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., senatorial aspirants, regarding their record on prohibition, and intimated she might take an active part in this campaign, but gave no indication as to which candidate she would support.

SIXTY-TWO MEMBERS DENOUNCE ACTION NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 10.—(P)—Sixty-two members, including such socially prominent persons as Mrs. August Belmont, Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt and Mrs. George P. Baker, expressed public disagreement today with the action of the executive committee of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform endorsing Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Asserting that the step turned a non-partisan organization into a "partisan group," their statement said "such a course destroys the usefulness of the organization before the attainment of the object for which it was formed."

"The organization," the statement continued, "came into existence with a view of bringing about the elimination of prohibition from the federal constitution. At their recent convention both parties declared in favor of submitting to the people such an amendment."

"The real difference between them is the course to be followed after repeal. They differ as to methods of control and regulation of the liquor traffic."

"With millions of unemployed, widespread distress, and with the world confronted with a crisis that threatens the very foundations of civilization, it is the duty of every citizen to make the position of a candidate toward control of the liquor traffic the sole test of his fitness for the office of president in the very negotiation of our responsibilities as citizens."

Therefore, we advocate that each individual should vote for the man who, in his or her judgment, is the best qualified to lead the nation."

REYNOLDS INQUEST TO REOPEN TODAY

Winston-Salem friend of Reynolds, and first cousin of his first wife.

Four guests in house. Authorities as having been in the house at the time of the tragedy in addition to the victim and the household servants.

They are: Blanche Yurka, a New York actress who was coaching Libby Holman for participation in a new play, and who has been ordered by the coroner's jury to hold herself within call; Ab Walker, who said he was on the first floor closing up the house when he heard the shot on the second-story sleeping porch; Mrs. Reynolds, and C. Raymond Kranner, of Flushing, L. I., who was engaged to tutor Reynolds.

The tutor is reported to have been in a room at the opposite end of the long, rambling house when Reynolds was shot.

The fatal bullet entered Reynolds' right temple and ploughed diagonally to the rear through his head, coming out back of the left ear.

It was officially stated today that all the evidence before the investigators tended to show Reynolds was right-handed.

Facing another ordeal of testifying when the inquest resumes, Mrs. Reynolds was reported today in much improved physical condition than at any time since the tragedy.

Upon her first appearance she was officially quoted as having told the jury she had no recollection of anything that happened from 11 p. m. Monday until late Wednesday, except for a fragmentary memory of seeing Smith standing near the bed on the sleeping porch with a gun in his hand, hearing him call out "Libby," and seeing him fall.

She was unable to give any explanation of this lapse of memory, officials said. The two sons of Reynolds, Mr. Charles Babcock and Mrs. Henry Walker Bagley, both of New York, and Miss Yurka.

Richard J. Reynolds Jr., the oldest of the four children of R. J. Sr., is understood to be on his way home from Las Palmas on the east coast of Africa, where he is on a yachting trip.

He is expected to reach New York Friday.

Sleazy patrol still patrolled the grounds of Reynolds, although the number had been reduced from the several squads traced on duty immediately after the tragedy.

Youth's History Studied. Delving into young Reynolds' history for the last several months, authorities here said they had been informed he had a narrow escape from death by a pistol bullet on a Long Island outing about a year ago.

Sheriff Scott said his information was that Reynolds' shirt was pierced by a pistol bullet on this occasion, the date of which was set as between July 25 and August 1, 1931, or the last part of June or first part of July that year.

Admitting they were without confirmation of the report the officials said they were seeking to discover or verify it, and if found true, to ascertain who was in the party and all other circumstances.

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED IN MICHIGAN

MONROE, Mich., July 10.—(P)—A search of city records here today revealed that a marriage license was issued here November 29, 1931, to Zachary Reynolds, 20, who gave as his address New York city, and Elizabeth Holman.

The licenses are understood to have been Smith Reynolds, heir to the tobacco fortune, who died of a gunshot wound at his Winston-Salem (N. C.) home last week, and Libby Holman, the torch singer.

The license was suppressed at the time of issuance and was revealed today only after it became known Reynolds' young widow had testified that she was married. The return showed that the couple was married by Justice Fred H. Schoepfer, since deceased. The application was made on November 28, in accordance with Michigan's five-day law, and apparently the couple waited either in Detroit or Toledo for the license.

Miss Holman gave no occupation. Reynolds said he had been married once before, but the name of his first wife was not given. The marriage was performed six days after the divorce decree of Smith Reynolds and Mrs. Anne Cannon Reynolds became effective.

Miss Holman also gave her address as New York city.

Tragic New Role of Libby Holman Gains Her Broadway's Sympathy

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 10.—(P)—The person inquest into the death of Zachary Smith Reynolds, 20-year-old heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco millions, was resumed by Winston-Salem (N. C.) authorities, the chief topic along the bright lights and byways of Broadway continued to be the tragic role in which one of its sensational favorites now finds herself.

Libby Holman, the girl who couldn't cook or sew and who didn't want to marry a millionaire, has the sympathy of the Chalmers thoroughbred where fame is the handmaiden of the billboard electrician. Twenty-six years old, bride of a few months and now a widow, the former torch singer whose rendition of "Moanin' Low" brought her acclaim and a rush of contracts, is the object of concern of a set that follows each risqué star and is seldom present when that star begins to dim or fall.

The only dissenting voice comes from the Broadway "lagers," the hangers-on and malcontents who manage to impute some abnormality to every successful theater favorite, but friends of Mrs. Reynolds, with the start of the whispering campaign, quickly came to her defense.

It was pointed out that Libby Holman was a smok, that the young graduate of the University of Cincinnati had put on airs after her roles in several musical comedies had made her name a byword on Broadway, but her friends here explain that she really is near-sighted and cannot see more than two feet in front of her, the aid of a long-sighted friend.

Her friends are unanimous in their admiration for her single-mindedness, her devotion to the theater, her desire to advance from musical comedy parts to legitimate drama. They point to the fact that one of the guests in young Reynolds' home on the night of the fatal shooting was Blanche Yurka, star of the legitimate, who was engaged in coaching Libby Holman.

When it was said that she probably had colored blood in her veins one of the fantastic stories circulated about her because of the deep, throaty way in which she sang blues songs, her friends were quick to recall that when she herself denied the imputation, she had added with a chuckle:

"I consider it all a great compliment."

Actually, Libby is the daughter of a Jewish attorney in Cincinnati.

The young heir of the tobacco prince of Winston-Salem, the met her through a mutual friend after her first big successes, and Broadwayites who admire the young woman who became his wife say that he was a consistent in his suit, following her when she went on the road with touring companies. He was very much in love and would not take "no" for an answer.

News of the death by a pistol shot of Libby Holman's husband was followed on Broadway by repetition of a previous rumor that Smith Reynolds had threatened to kill himself if she didn't accept his offer of marriage.

The torch singer acquired the deep voice that made her name synonymous with "Moanin' Low" by the accidental slip of a surgeon's knife when her tonsils were being removed. Her friends say that she has made $100,000 in her brief career, that she can make much more if she wishes to return to the stage, but she has automatically cut her off from any share in the tobacco fortune doesn't mean anything to her.

EXPENSE CUT URGED BY N. CAR. TREASURER

RALEIGH, N. C., July 10.—(P)—John P. Stegman, treasurer of the state of North Carolina, tonight urged he has written Governor O. Max Gardner asserting a curtailment in the cost of the state government of "fully $7,000,000" for 1932-33 is necessary.

"The idea of drastic economy is no longer a theory, but a fact," Stegman said. "Unless we take immediate action we shall be very much embarrassed and will probably have to suspend payment of salaries and current expenses in the early part of this fiscal year."

VILLAGE IN OHIO STRUCK BY CYCLONE

AKRON, Ohio, July 10.—(P)—The village of Mogadore, seven miles east of here, was struck by cyclonic winds today, injuring at least half a dozen persons and wrecking much of the residential district.

Eye witnesses said a funnel-shaped cloud, accompanied by heavy winds, swept in out of the northwest shortly after 3 p. m.

The business district escaped damage. The town has about 2,500 population.

Negro Is Slain.

Roy Dobbs, 31, negro, said by police to have been a bootlegger, was shot and instantly killed late Sunday night in the rear of 410 Fraser street by Annie Smith, who lives in the rear of that address, according to police reports. The Smith woman is being held on a charge of murder. She told officers that Dobbs had called to collect some money from her husband, and that during her husband's absence Dobbs had tried to force his way into her house. She fired at him with a shotgun.

J. P. MAHONEY DIES AT LOUISVILLE, KY.

J. P. Mahoney, formerly prominent resident of Atlanta, died Saturday in Louisville, Ky., at the age of 56. He had been residing in the Kentucky city for several years.

Funeral services will be conducted at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Sacred Heart church. The Rev. Father John Emmert will conduct the rites, and interment will be in the Mahoney family lot in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Mahoney was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael V. Mahoney, pioneer residents of Atlanta, and was widely known here. He was born in this city, and resided here for many years.

Mr. Mahoney was engaged in the brokerage business here and was conspicuous in social and business life. While a resident of Atlanta he was a member of the Sacred Heart church, in which he took an active part.

He is survived by his wife; two sisters, Mrs. John J. Lynch, well known Atlanta, who now is touring Europe, and Mrs. B. O'Connor, also of Atlanta, and one brother, John Mahoney, of Los Angeles, Cal. Sam Greenberg & Company are in charge of the arrangements.

ELKS OF NATION OPEN CONVENTION AT BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 10.—(P)—Elks of the nation paid tribute today to their dead at memorial services preceding the opening tomorrow of the sixty-eighth convention of the grand lodge.

Grand Exalted Ruler John B. Coon, Sterling, Colo., spoke at the services held at the grave of the late B. M. Allen, Birmingham, one time grand exalted ruler, sharing the program with other grand lodge officials. Coon conferred during the day with members of his cabinet and with Floyd Thompson, who will be named to succeed him at Tuesday's election. Chicago and Milwaukee continued to dominate talk of a meeting place for next year.

The delegates took charge of Birmingham today as additional hundreds joined the score of early arrivals checking in since early last week. The city took on a gala appearance, bested a mantle of flags and bunting bearing greetings and the official Elks emblem in purple and white, official colors of the grand lodge.

Convention officials put their heads together in pre-convention conferences tonight and members of the program committee announced everything in readiness for the opening rap of the presiding officer's gavel tomorrow night.

Y. W. C. A. Offers Reduced Rates On Private Swimming Lessons

Reduced rates on private swimming lessons at the Y. W. C. A. present opportunities for inexperienced swimmers to learn rapidly and easily, and allow amateurs to perfect their strokes which surprise their friends. Private lessons are given by appointment and are reduced from $2 to $1.50 each or six lessons for $8. For two people desiring semi-private instruction, lessons are $1.25 each per person or six lessons for $7.50 each.

Due to the fact that the "Y" pool at 37 Auburn avenue is indoors, lessons and practice dips are not interrupted by rainy weather and business women may enjoy dips during lunch hour, from 11 to 1 o'clock, after work at 5 o'clock, as the pool is open from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock for afternoon dips. Those who fear the blistering rays of the midday sun derive pleasure from a cool, refreshing swim in the "Y" pool, where the temperature is maintained at 70 degrees, winter and summer, regardless of weather conditions.

Water Tested. For those who appreciate purity and safety in swimming, the Y. W. C. A. desire protection from infection and contagion, the "Y" pool is ideal, for the expert chlorination system keeps the water purer than ordinary drinking water. The water is changed regularly and Sherman Russell, water purification engineer from the Atlanta waterworks, inspects the pool constantly. A physical examination is given by a Y. W. C. A. doctor is required annually of everyone, and no swimmer enters the "Y" pool without first having a soapy shower. Sterilizing towels are furnished by the Y. W. C. A. and it is necessary for everyone to wear a cap. A lifeguard is always on duty and every precaution is taken to assure complete sanitation and protection and absolute safety.

Group swimming lessons are given morning, afternoon and evening for adults, with instruction for little girls on Thursday afternoons and Saturday mornings. There is a class for small boys (up to the age of 12) on Thursday afternoons from 4 to 4:30 o'clock. Children's lessons are $2 for six lessons and most children are so eager to learn they become experts after this period of instruction.

Miss Dorothy Davenport, member of the Business Girls' League and former member of the "Y" board of directors, is the instructor in the "Richardson" Sunday school class at St. Mark's Methodist church Sunday, telling of the fun and frolic enjoyed at Camp Highland.

Minstrel Show Given At Camp Ko-Wee-Ta.

Miss Pauline Sowers, of Miami, Fla., director of dramatics, presented a group in a minstrel show at Camp Ko-Wee-Ta Saturday evening. Talent and dramatic ability were displayed in the splendid performance. Helen Hall, of Moultrie, as Hamlet, was the hit of the evening, singing and crooning "Dinah." The entire group, including Macon, and Mildred Turnbull, of Moultrie, gave a series of interesting jokes. The other characters were Martha Ferris, Interlocutor; Bert Smith, My Gal Sal; Yancy Trimble, Francis McFerrin; Jocelyn Sowers and Myrtle Jennings. Mrs. Alonzo Richardson was house guest at supper Sunday evening, and she gave an inspiring talk at the twilight vesper service.

"A Backward Party" was enjoyed at Ko-Wee-Ta recently. Mrs. A. B. Lytle stood at the dining room door before supper and enjoyed the party. She had a paper bag tied on her right hand. Later in the evening costumes were worn backward to the party and the guests entered the back door of the building. The party was a success, with many saying good night as they came to the party. Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Rogers, of Atlanta, were honor guests at supper Friday evening. Dr. Rogers went with a group of girls on an interesting bird walk after supper and later gave a very interesting lecture on the native birds and their habits. Among the new campers entering the Ko-Wee-Ta family this week are Virginia Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bennett; Carvel Grant Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Long; Ciel Coker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Coker; and Vivian Newberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Newberry, of Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman Keep Open House.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Zimmerman kept open house at their home on Fair street recently honoring Miss Bessie Katz, of New Orleans, La., and their son, Dr. H. F. Zimmerman, who is interested in any other woman. We have two children, just normal healthy children of whom we are proud. We have a nice simple home and a small salary to live on, though it is enough for our needs. But in spite of these circumstances I am not happy. I attribute all my unhappiness to agree on anything, from his daily drink to the discipline of the children. It is as though we were being pulled apart by some unseen hand. Our disagreements often end in quarrels and the quarrels often last for days where formerly they lasted for a few hours. I don't believe I am any other man and I don't believe I am any other woman. Please make some suggestions as to how I may smooth out the rough places in my life.

campaign is about to get actively under way, political analysts have set for themselves the task of figuring out as far as possible the far in-advance of the election which party has the better chance to win.

While it will probably be the middle of September when the first of October before the sentiment of the country definitely crystallizes one way or the other, it is certain the democrats have more reason for optimism than the republicans, who are admittedly downcast despite hopeful talk.

On the basis of the record for the past 50 years, the republicans, of course, hold the advantage. That record, broken only by the administrations of two democratic presidents, would tend to show conclusively enough that the country is preponder-ately republican. In estimating the relative chances of the two parties in November, however, the record of past political success manifestly cannot be taken too seriously. Present conditions of the country, the tariff and social unrest and general uncertainty as to what the future holds serve to place the party in power on the defensive and more than equalize any normal advantage the republicans might enjoy.

Because of the progressive viewpoint as a matter of fact, the platform of the democratic presidential nominee, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, the Hoover high commander in chief of drawing a sharp line of cleavage between conservatives and liberals of the country, returning the tariff and social unrest sufficiently in the majority to place the republicans to power.

As the campaign begins to get under way, it is probable that the major strategy of the Hoover forces will be to keep the campaign in the prohibition big issue.

Assuming that the campaign is to be fought out along that line, it remains to be seen, of course, whether liberal or conservative sentiment will prevail. As a matter of fact, no disinterested observer here believes for a moment that the campaign will be confined to such a broad and indefinite issue. Prohibition, it appears, will come more nearly capturing the title of issue than any other one question, but it is probable that the
